PURPLE HUMBLER PROUD MAROON

Morrissey's Throw to Home in Sixth Ends Fordham Rally;
Score 4 to 3

FONS BESTS HARRINGTON

Sheffott's Error on Savage's
Gives Purple Two Runs;
Freeman Stars

With the eyes of the collegiate baseball world fastened on their crucial test, and in a game replete with tense situations and tight baseball, the Crusaders defeated the crack Fordham nine by the count of 4-3. The score was the duplicate of the thrilling battle of last year. The Maroon had won seventeen out of eighteen starts, but they struck an obstinate snag in the Purple baseballers last Saturday.

The game was not over until the last man was out in the ninth. With two gone in the final frame, Fons used sound strategy when he passed White filling the bases. The cool freshman slabster was taking no chances with White, who had nicked him for two hits, one a double. The next man, Landry, a right handed batter hit a high fly into short center, which Freeman nabbed for the final putout of a hard fought game. Freeman and Morrissey provided the spectacular touches of the afternoon, when they assisted beautifully in the pinches. Freeman came tearing in fast after Clancy's liner over Cote's head, and by a rifle peg to McEntee, nailed Carter by feet, who thought the blow was good for a hit.

SIX FELLOWSHIPS IN CHEM. TO BE FOUNDED

The Department of Chemistry recently announced the establishment of six Graduate Fellowships in Chemistry. These fellowships are open to graduates of colleges and technical schools, if they are properly qualified to undertake graduate work. Each fellowship carries with it a stipend of $1000 paid in ten installments. All who are interested should address communications to the Dean of the Department of Chemistry, Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.

Below are the conditions governing appointments:

1. Appointment to position of fellow is for a period of ten months beginning August 16, 1926.
2. Fellowship holders are required to register as graduate students and become candidates for the degree of Master of Science.
3. School vacations are not observed.
4. Fellows are not permitted to accept any employment for pay during the ten months of appointment.
5. Applicants should send their photograph and a copy of their collegiate records from the registrars of the college where they have or will be graduated. They should also state technical or practical experience and give names and addresses of at least three persons who are familiar with their character, training and ability.
6. Fellows will devote a maximum of twelve hours per week as Instructor.

Vagabonds Will Hold One Act Play Contest Tonight

The first annual One Act Play Night will be conducted by the Vagabond Players in Fenwick Hall this evening. A large audience of visitors is expected to witness this novel effort, which has been coached by Edward J. McGratty, '28.

The performance will begin at eight o'clock and will be assisted by the Concert Ensemble under the direction of Paul B. Diederich, '28. After the five plays have been presented and the winner chosen, the prize will be awarded by Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S.J., President of the College.

B. C. TEAM WINS FRENCH DEBATE HELD IN FENWICK

First Intercollegiate Debate in French Tongue Held in America

The first intercollegiate French debate in America was held in Fenwick Hall last Friday night. Boston College and Holy Cross were the opponents and the decision was given to the Boston College team.

A large audience composed of many French speaking people and students were present. The debate was given under the auspices of the Department of Romance Languages, and Edward J. McLaughlin, '28, was chairman.

The question debated read, "Resolved, That the Compulsory System of Education is Superior to the Elective System." Boston College upheld the negative and won the debate because of a superior rebuttal. The Purple debaters failed to note that the negative was defending the semi-elective system instead of the elective system.

William Lawson, '29, first speaker for the affirmative, compared the two systems and brought out by numerous similes that the elective system is bound to bring bad results. Albert Taylor, who spoke first for the Boston team, also explained the two systems and quoted several prominent educators as upholding the elective system.

Delegates Nominated By Day Students' Sodality

Instead of the regular weekly meeting of the B. V. M. Sodality, a combined meeting of the sodality and the Worcester Undergraduate Club was held in Fenwick Hall last Tuesday at 11.45 a. m. At this meeting four students were nominated as candidates for the Eucharistic Congress in June. They are as follows: John O'Toole, '26, Walter Mulvihill, '26, Thomas O'Rourke, '27, James Marshall, '26.

At the solemn reception of the sodality on May 16, two candidates will be chosen from the above and they will represent the sodality at the Congress. A fee has been deducted from the locker deposit of each non-resident student to defray the expenses of the representatives.

The candidates will be elected by votes and each non-resident is entitled to one vote.

DEBATERS WIN FROM B. C., 2 - 1

Gain Permanent Possession of
K. of C. Trophy — Junior Team Loses in Boston

Permanent possession of the Knights of Columbus Debating cup was won by the Purple debating team over the Boston College team in Alhambra Hall last Thursday. The subject of debate was, "Resolved, That the Political Interests of the United States Demand the Abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine." At the same time in Newton, a Boston College freshman-sophomore team was defeating a similar team from Holy Cross on the same subject.

Holy Cross was represented by William J. Butler, '27, Herbert J. Kelly, '26, and John J. Verdon, '26, while the Boston College team was composed of Francis Corcoran, Thomas A. O'Keefe, and Walter R. Morris.

Justice Philip J. O'Connell of the Massachusetts Superior Court acted as presiding officer. The judges were George F. Booth, publisher of the Worcester Telegram-Gazette; Capt. Ralph Earle, president of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and George S. Mirick, attorney.

Before the debate a program of college and popular songs was rendered by the College Orchestra, directed by Paul B. Diederich, '28. During the intermission previous to the rebuttal Thomas Laffin, '26, sang several vocal solos.

Class of 1923 Will Hold First Reunion This June

Plan Endowment Policy in Favor of College

That the Class of 1923 proposes to make their initial reunion a banner one is indicated in the announcements which have already been sent to all members and former members of the class urging them to make the journey to Holy Cross in June.

The reunion of the Class of 1923 is the first reunion to be held in the three year period. When this class elected a marshal for life and resolved to hold their first reunion three years after graduation, they inaugurated a new custom at Holy Cross which succeeding classes have seen fit to follow.

Charles Bowman Strome, marshal of the class, is now busy making arrangements for the reunion and the formal announcement to the class of preliminary plans will prove of interest not only to friends of the class, but also to all Holy Cross graduates and students.

Plans are being made to take out an endowment policy of $50,000 in favor of the College which would mature in nineteen years. The annual premium amounts to about $11.00 a member.

A booklet with a short history of each member of the class since his departure from the Hill is being prepared. This booklet which will also contain suggestions for the reunion will be mailed to each member so that they "may be enlightened, mystified, satisfied or contented in the confirmation of pre-graduation prognostications."

Winner In Song Contest To Be Decided This Week

J. Edward Bouvier, director of the Musical Clubs, will announce the winner of the College Song Contest during the coming week. The song and the music will be published in the next issue of THE TOMAHAWK, and will be sung for the first time at the College Sing to be held in the open next Wednesday night. The second prize song will also be sung.

Thomas P. Laffin, '26, and J. William Hurley, '26, are now editing the Holy Cross Song Book which will be off the press at the beginning of next month.

JOHN J. VERDON CHOSEN CLASS VALEDICTORIAN

Berghold Named Salutatorian;
Kelly and Saulnier to Give Addresses

The first plans for the Commencement Day exercises were completed this week with the selection of the Commencement speakers. John J. Verdon, of Hoboken, N. J., was selected as valedictorian; and William F. Berghold will be salutatorian. The other two speakers for the occasion will be Herbert J. Kelly and Nicholas J. Saulnier.

Verdon is one of the most prominent members of the senior class and captained the successful varsity debating team which defeated the hitherto undefeated Boston College team on Thursday evening. He is the retiring Chairman of the Editorial Board of THE TOMAHAWK, president of the B. J. F. Debating Society, a member of the Senior Council and a prominent member of the Dramatic Society.

Berghold, of White Plains, New York, is president of the Dramatic Society, and retiring News Editor of THE TOMAHAWK, was a member of the debating team that defeated St. Joseph's early this year, held the office of secretary of the Musical Clubs and is a member of the Endowment Fund Committee.

Kelly, of Coardsville, Mass., is business manager of the Purple Patcher and a member of the varsity debating team. Saulnier, of Manchester, N. H., has been a member of the Musical Clubs for four years, and was a member of the varsity debating team.

Butler and Cunningham Will Head 1927 Patcher

William J. Butler, of New York City, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the 1927 Purple Patcher, and Edward A. Cunningham, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., was elected Business Manager at a meeting of the junior class held last Thursday. They will announce their assistants in the near future.

Butler has been prominent in extra curriculum activities since his freshman year. He is at present Editorial Chairman of THE TOMAHAWK, a member of the varsity debating team, which defeated Boston College last week, and is also active in dramatic circles on the Hill.

Cunningham has been active in class athletics, being a star on the freshman eleven and captain of the junior basketball team, which won the interclass championship.

PUBLIC DEFENSE OF PSYCHOLOGY

Joseph C. Fenton, '26, Defends
Forty-four Theses of Scholastic Psychology

DOCTOR ADAM LEROY JONES OF COLUMBIA UNIV. OBJECTOR

David I. Walsh, '93, Presides at Disputation in Fenwick
Yesterday

The first public defense of Scholastic Psychology at Holy Cross was upheld yesterday afternoon in Fenwick Hall, with Joseph C. Fenton, '26, in the role of defender for the forty-four theses on Fundamental and Advanced Psychology. David I. Walsh, '93, former member of the United States Senate, presided at the disputation, and after a brief introductory speech, surrendered the floor to the first objector, Daniel J. Moynihan, '26.

The defense had attracted considerable interest both in the College and in outside collegiate circles. The senior class attended in a body, and Fenwick Hall was filled even to standing room with an overflow crowd grouped in the corridors leading to Fenwick.

A delegation from Springfield attended, as did the entire philosophy faculty of the Jesuit Seminary at Fairview at Weston. Besides these delegations, a group of psychologists from Clark and other New England colleges were present.

Mr. Moynihan attacked the thesis, "The brute animal is not endowed with rational life," and stated briefly:

FIRST COLLEGE SING NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Next Wednesday evening, immediately after Chapel service the first Holy Cross Sing will be held. The place of this sing is as yet undecided. It will either be held on the terrace between Loyola and Alumni Halls, or on Freshman field. Thomas P. Laffin, '26, is the originator of the idea, and is in charge of all plans for this first Sing.

At this performance the winners of the College Song Contest will be awarded their prizes, and their songs sung for the first time. The Sing will open with a parade led by the band to the scene of the festival where all will join in the singing of a parody on "How Do You Do, Everybody, How Do You Do." This will be followed by some Holy Cross airs and class parodies. J. Edward Bouvier, director of the Musical Clubs, will lead the singing with the class song leaders, who will be appointed or elected during the week.

A poster campaign will be conducted during the week to arouse the interest of the undergraduate body, so that all will be present to air their lungs. This campaign is under the direction of Frank A. Reilly, '28.

The parodies that will be sung will be mimeographed and distributed to all the students next Wednesday afternoon. These parodies should be handed into the class presidents not later than Friday evening.

AN EDITORIAL "STATUS QUO"

A correspondent delivers himself with good logic and apparent good faith of the following:

"Your editorials, my dear Editor, are discouraging, both by reason of having very little to say and saying it in a style which is too consistently ecstatic. All that I can gather from your columns is that Holy Cross leads the college world in all activities, intellectual and athletic, and is busy inventing more. Such a state of affairs is manifestly impossible; it would be out of proportion to the universe. Your own newspaper, also, is evidence that it is not true. Is it not far more logical to say: 'I love Holy Cross, but I am not yet satisfied with her?'"

This impeachment sums up so forcefully what is often whispered, that a discussion of it may serve to clear the air considerably. Like all impeachments, it is partly true and partly false.

That Holy Cross, being born of an ideal, should have ideals, is quite as natural as that a hen should produce eggs. Granted ideals, one readily understands how student opinion should support them so enthusiastically, for the years at college are the only time in a man's life when he can afford to be intensely idealistic. When youth wishes to see its college at the top, the immediate reaction is to imagine that it is there already. When an alumnus talks ideals at some meeting or other, one is tempted to feel that he is trying to be pedantic, but one must never confuse the two viewpoints. Age may or may not be sincere; youth most certainly is.

During the coming year we shall try to present a reasonable cross-section of student opinion. Probably everyone will find expressed in our column opinions with which he will differ most violently. Since disagreement postulates a definite conviction, we shall be constructive, which in itself is an achievement.

In certain matters we shall have to comment unfavorably, not so much because of any need of unfavorable criticism (Vide the head of this column) as out of necessity to crystallize it.

Thus do we make our "Apologia" and with trembling knees set to work.

ANOTHER ACTIVITY ENDS ITS SEASON

Having annexed in one glorious swoop the scalp of the Boston College debating team and the eight scalps which they brought with them to Worcester, the Varsity debaters have decided to call it a year.

Mathematically, the season figures up to about seventy-five per cent—three victories over St. Joseph's, Williams and Boston College and one defeat by Williams. The real success, however, is beneath the surface. In the dual debate with Williams the Holy Cross men showed their aptitude to abandon the traditional style of debating and assume the Oxford manner. The final victory was all the more impressive by reason of the opposition's record and the difficult nature of the proposition.

Next year may be held legitimately to promise much. What will develop depends particularly upon the alacrity with which the teams make out their schedule. The present time is by no means too soon, for September usually finds the other colleges with their dates filled.

If Holy Cross next year does not meet and defeat some debating teams, such as Boston University, of widespread reputations, the College may very properly be disappointed. To blast a few such reputations, besides being a great honor, would be a distinct pleasure. We have the man power; let us express the hope that we shall not be idle through inability to arrange for a variety of debates both at home and at other colleges.

"IN THE EVENING BY THE MOONLIGHT"

Spring evenings being long and languorous are altogether delightful. The proverbial grind becomes proverbially irksome. With eager anticipation and with deep gratitude to the Faculty and Thomas P. Laffin, '26, who have made it possible, we await the inauguration of a College Sing next Wednesday. Details of the new celebration are set down elsewhere in this issue.

It remains for us to append a note regarding this venture whose success depends entirely upon the co-operation of the whole student body. Each class will contribute its own parody of a popular air and sing it for the approval of the rest of the audience. Since the idea is quite untried as yet, we ask the students to encourage it by refraining from any comment during the several performances and applauding the spirit if not the technique of the composers. Only in this way can we hope for a continued application in perfecting the evening schedules. Probably our suggestion will be quite unnecessary—it is made only to forestall any possibility of chilling the enthusiasm of all who are attempting to provide a suitable and popular entertainment.

DEBATERS WIN FROM BOSTON COLLEGE, 2-1

Awarded 2-1 Decision Over Maroon Debaters

ment for the affirmative by a very stirring speech showing that the Monroe Doctrine has been an obstacle to friendly relations between the United States and Europe. Developing this topic, he declared that it should be abandoned since it is a policy which, though once useful, is now antiquated.

The first speaker of the negative was Francis Corcoran. He gave an outline of the Monroe Doctrine, stating that there is no policy more essential to the United States. The speaker then proceeded to show that it is necessary as a means of national protection and is based on the right of self-protection. He stated as a possible example that Mexico, if controlled by a foreign power, would have been a menace to the United States in the World War.

The affirmative argument was continued by Herbert Kelly, who claimed that the Doctrine hinders the relations between the United States and South America. His contention was that the countries of Latin America feel independent and able to care for themselves, and that this policy which they resent should not be forced upon them. He strengthened this statement by tracing the enormous growth of the countries of Latin America.

Thomas O'Keefe, the second speaker of the negative, claimed that the relinquishing of the Doctrine would endanger the Panama Canal. If a foreign power obtained a foothold in Central America, in case of war, it could very easily destroy the canal.

John Verdon completed the main speeches for the affirmative by demonstrating that the Doctrine is unnecessary. He claimed that the South American countries are safeguarded by the League of Nations, and that the United States' right to self-protection is guaranteed by international law, and hence does not require the Monroe Doctrine.

The last speaker of the negative, Walter Morris, reviewed in brief the points of the two previous members of the negative and gave three possible solutions of the problem if the Doctrine were abandoned, as advocated by the affirmative, and then proceeded to show that they were not applicable.

In rebuttal the negative emphasized that the affirmative had offered no substitute for the Monroe Doctrine; that by its entrance into the World Court the United States did not abandon its attitude on purely American questions; that South America still requires the Monroe Doctrine and is not yet strong enough to protect itself; that it is a doctrine of self-defense and must not be confused with other policies.

The affirmative's rebuttal treated of the interests of the United States which they claimed were protected by international law; that Europe recognizes this fact, but not the principle of the Doctrine and that the Doctrine violates certain rights of the South American nations.

FAHEY LECTURES TO JOURNALISM CLASSES

Mr. John Fahey, publisher of the Worcester Evening Post, addressed the classes of Journalism last Thursday in Fenwick Hall. Besides the Journalism classes, the lecture was attended by several hundred students, professors and guests.

Mr. Fahey, in a general discussion of the journalistic profession, stressed three points of interest to future journalists: The great opportunities awaiting all who enter the newspaper game, the duty and aim of every newspaper, and the vast influence exercised by news journals in local, national and international affairs.

"As in all other professions," he said, "success in the journalistic world awaits only those who are persistently alert and willing to make it a life's work." Granted this, however, Mr. Fahey showed that the field for success is unbounded.

In treating his second point he told of the vast improvement that can and should be made in modern newspapers. The selection of news and its proper presentation is an all important item in the ethics of a newspaper because of the influence a printed story has on the average reader. A news column, he emphatically stated, should be free from the personal prejudices and impressions of the writer.

He prophesied that the popular cry for so-called American isolation would never be realized and in years to come the United States would be on even more intimate relations with European powers, both commercially and politically. Because of this the international correspondence in the press would increase enormously and play an important part in foreign relations.

Outdoor Greek Theatre To Be Painted Stone Grey

The outdoor Greek Theatre was completed last week with the erection of Agamemnon's apartments. The whole theatre is a replica of the Parthenon in Athens and consists of the apartment of Agamemnon flanked by two large towers, a stage eighty feet wide and an orchestra circle where the chorus will play.

Painting on the structure will begin this week. It will be painted a stone grey and on the three sides of the towers visible to the audience will be painted in a deep color the insignias of three Greek races. These insignias are: a "Sigma" as representative of the Sycionians; a "Serpent" representing the Myceneans, and a "Lambda" as representative of the Lacaedemonians or Spartans.

Tickets for students, who wish to attend the performance with their parents or friends will be placed on sale next Saturday.

SENIOR-JUNIOR TEAMS CHOSEN FOR DEBATE

At the try-outs for the senior-junior debate, held on Tuesday, May 4, John J. Verdon, Herbert J. Kelley and Robert F. Quinn were selected for the senior team, and J. Courtney McGroarty, Charles H. Birdsall and John J. McInerney were chosen to represent the juniors.

This debate will be held on Monday, May 24, and the question is, "Resolved, That the Political Interests of the United States Demands the Abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine." This is the same question that was discussed at the Varsity-B. C. debate last Thursday.

The tryouts for the sophomore-freshman team will be held in Fenwick Hall tomorrow afternoon. Each speaker will be limited to four minutes.

BROOKLYN CLUB BANQUET

The Brooklyn-Long Island Undergraduate Club will hold its annual banquet at the Bancroft Hotel next Tuesday evening. The club has the largest enrollment of any undergraduate club, having a roster of sixty-seven members.

After the banquet there will be a short business meeting, at which the president and vice-president for the coming year will be elected. The secretary and treasurer of the club will be elected at the first regular meeting in the fall.

Boston Team Outwits Purple in Rebuttal

Edmund Sweeney, '29, second Purple speaker, argued the compulsory system from a character standpoint and compared electivism to water always flowing down hill. Francis Murphy, second speaker of the negative, maintained that the elective system possessed more moral points for the individual and the nation, and that it eliminates the vices so often found where studies are compulsory.

As the last speaker of the affirmative, Harold Tuttle, '29, proved that the compulsory system of education is morally and mentally an advantage over the elective system. By a comparison of ambition and laziness, he made clear his points. Thomas C. Heffernan closed the debate, and in vigorous French showed the advantages of the elective system and summed up the B. C. arguments.

In the rebuttal, the Boston College debaters outwitted the Purple. They proved by forceful arguments the numerous advantages of an elective system.

A program of French music was played by the College Orchestra, led by Paul B. Diederich, '28. The Boston team were the guests of Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S.J., president, and remained at the College over the week-end.

When it's a rainy night—and with three crafty bridge players your luck
is running wild
—have a Camel!

Camels represent the utmost in cigarette quality. The choicest of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are blended into Camels by master blenders and the finest of French cigarette paper is made especially for them. Into this one brand is concentrated all of the knowledge, all of the skill of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men.

WHEN the dark skies are pouring rain outside. And fickle fate deals you hands at bridge that you play with consummate skill—have a Camel!

For Camel is the silent partner that helps every deserving player win his game. Camels never hurt or tire the taste, never leave a trace of cigarette after-taste. Regardless of the gold you spend, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those rolled into Camels.

So this evening as you ply your unerring skill, evoke then the mellowest fragrance that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

CRUSADERS WIN FROM FORDHAM

McEntee's Catch of Fons' Wild Throw in Ninth Saves Game for Purple

Morrissey's play came in the sixth after two runs had been scored, and some vital action was needed to stave off what might have been winning runs. Clancy was roosting on second after scoring Woerner and Carter with his double. Graham singled to Morrissey, who made a beautiful throw right into Doherty's hands.

The keen-eyed Fordhamites were a tough proposition for Fons to handle as his arm was not in tip-top shape. Three times the lower end of the line-up was retired in order, but not so with the lads at the top of the ladder. In the first inning they were harmless. The next time they appeared, one run was scored on three hits; in the sixth they counted twice on four blows, and in the eighth and ninth they threatened seriously.

Barry changed the batting order for the second time in a week, and it looks like a big improvement in the batting punch. McMahon was shifted to lead-off man with Walsh in the sacrifice position, and they both seem to fit well in these positions. Savage moved up in Freeman's place, and Doherty was then placed above Freeman. This weakens the lower end of the line-up, but means bunched hits if batting averages count, and bunched hits win ball games.

The Purple had their big inning in the third when Harrington showed signs of weakening. Three big runs were scored on a hit, two walks and a costly error. McMahon received his invariable free ticket, pilfered second and scored on Walsh's single, who advanced to second on the throw to home. Morrissey walked and he and Walsh scored when Sheffott dropped Savage's fly to right field. Some hustling on Morrissey's part enabled him to score from first base. The last and winning run was manufactured in the fifth, when Walsh laced out his second hit and scored on Morrissey's double.

The Maroon got their first run across in the fourth stanza on three successive singles. Only nine men had faced Fons in the first three innings. Landry started the ball rolling when he poked out a single, scampers to third on Woerner's single, and counted when Carter also imitated with a one-base blow.

In the sixth it again looked bad for Fons. Woerner, who singled, went to third on Carter's double, and both men tallied on Clancy's double. When Graham singled, Morrissey's accurate throw nipped Clancy at the plate with the tying run. The Maroon looked as if it would win the game yet, and the last two innings were anxious ones.

The eighth canto loomed up as disastrous when White doubled. Fons hit Landry and Woerner sacrificed. With the tying and winning runs on the paths, Carter with two hits to his credit struck out, while Clancy rolled a slow one to Fons. However, the situation was perilous in the ninth, when the game hung in the balance with three men crowding the bases. Cote gave the stands heart failure by booting Sheffott's grounder. He went to third when Fons threw Harrington's roller to first, drawing McEntee off the bag. Joe saved the game right there by making a one-hand stab of that throw that looked as if it would find a resting place in the bleachers and place the ball game in Fordham's lap. White, a portside batsman, was not given a chance to do the damage, and strolled to first. Landry immediately skied over Cote's head, but the ball-hawk Freeman speared it. An exciting climax to a thrill-a-minute game.

WHATEVER GOES UP — GOES UP

Jack Whelan, freshman, and member of the golf team, is a changed man today. He no longer has any faith in the good old laws of gravity. It all happened out at the Leicester Country Club last Sunday while Jack was crossing golf clubs with Captain Quinn of Leicester in the singles matches of the tournament between Holy Cross and the Club. During the course of the round, Quinn placed himself in such a position on one hole that he was obliged to shoot over a tree, to reach the green. Right strongly did he swing. Straight and true went the ball. Even as Lucifer fell never to rise again, so did the little sphere rise never to fall again. It lodged in one of the branches of the tree.

The golf archives of the Club were searched and volumes and volumes of rules were consulted. Finally it was decided that it was an unplayable lie and a penalty of two strokes was inflicted upon Quinn. Anyway, Jack Whelan won by a score of 2 up and one to go. As far as we know one is still up. That's the golf ball.

GOLFERS WIN TWO; DROP ONE

Conquer M. I. T. and Leicester C. C.; Lose to W. P. I.; Play Amherst Tomorrow

The golf team completed a successful week on Sunday by defeating the Leicester Country Club team, 8-4. The match was played at the Leicester Country Club. The record of the team for the week was two victories and one defeat. On Wednesday they met their first defeat of the season at the hands of Worcester Tech by a score of 4-2. The Tech team took three out of four singles matches and divided the doubles. McGillicuddy and Fitzgerald showed fine form in defeating Stewart and Heon one up in twenty holes.

Saturday the team shut out the M. I. T. golfers with apparent ease, taking all the events of the day. O'Brien of Holy Cross played the best game of the match, scoring a 73 on a 72 par course. He scored three birdies in this round on the fifth, tenth and eleventh holes. Captain McGillicuddy also played a fine round.

In winning over the Leicester Country Club on Sunday, the Purple showed the best golf of the week. An eight man team journeyed to Leicester instead of the usual six man squad. Murphy in his singles round played havoc with his Leicester opponent by turning in a card of 34 on nine holes. This equals the course record. Murphy shot a brilliant game all the way through, taking an eagle and two birdies. The Purple aggregation took five out of the seven remaining singles matches and broke even on the foursomes. Tomorrow the team goes to Springfield to meet Amherst. This is the only trip of the year, all the rest of the matches being scheduled for the Worcester Country Club.

Summaries:

Holy Cross 2; Worcester Tech 4

OWNIE AGAIN

It is always with pleasure that we bring back the famed Ownie to these columns, and his recent success has landed him in the columns of leading sport journals. The I-told-you-so gentlemen are pointing the finger of poor judgment of genuine baseball ability at Ty Cobb, but instead it seems congruent with Ty's brainy managerial movements to have sent Ownie to the minors. Ownie himself desired to go a step down the ladder, and Toronto was the best possible scene that could be chosen for Ownie's sensational pitching. His manager is Dan Hawley, who commands respect as a manager, and as one who has developed many a young baseball star. Toronto is now in second place, with Carroll having six victories and no defeats to his credit. His latest dazzling performance was the defeat of the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in ten torrid innings and winning the verdict over Ogden, Baltimore's leading pitcher and brother of Curley Ogden of the Senators. This is one of the three defeats that the Orioles have encountered, and the monotonous regularity with which they carry off the pennants will strike a snag in Toronto with Ownie in the van. The batters opposing Ownie are by no means slouches, as they are mostly major league cast-offs who still pack a wallop and a keen eye. But Ownie is standing them on their heads.

Perhaps the greatest help to Ownie's success is the presence behind the bat of the crafty Steve O'Neil, a veteran of many major league campaigns. This is the final touch that Ownie needed to get started on his dazzling record. He now takes a regular turn on the mound, and has the steady influence of O'Neil to handle him in great fashion. Ownie is now unrestricted in the way he wants to pitch, and he and O'Neil work well together. The knowledge that he will acquire and has absorbed from the veteran receiver will further strengthen him when he returns to the majors. We have an idea Ownie will be recalled to Detroit, if the Tigers have a chance to place in the money.

Ownie is pleased to be with Toronto, not only for the company he is in but for the experience and success he is enjoying. His pleasing personality combined with his willing spirit and eagerness without a semblance of swell-headedness made him a great favorite with the Detroiters, and he is immensely popular in Toronto. Not many college pitchers have gulped the span between collegiate and major league ball. In the case of Ownie he has learned more while with Toronto than he did all last season with the Tigers, and is on his way to complete a superb season for Toronto.

It is hard to imagine Ownie being anything but a success, and sport authorities have given this decision after one glance at him in a game. The leading players on both circuits hold the greatest success for him. But we, who have watched Ownie for one, two or three years, have never allowed our faith in him to waver. Even now in his major league apprenticeship, he is the closest approach to the perfect pitcher that we have ever seen. He fields his position flawlessly. His batting is marvelous for a pitcher, and has the astounding average of around .600. We can remember the free and easy cut that the Ace used to take at the pellet, and look forward to him breaking up and winning several of his own games. On the mound he has perfect rhythm. His wiry body wastes no motion in its effort, and yet he can bear down in the pinches with amazing effectiveness. His speed, fast-breaking curves, tantalizing slow ball, and above his superlative control always marked him in the eyes of his Holy Cross followers as a sure prospect for success in organized baseball.

Keep it up Ownie, we are all with you.

Crusaders Topple William and Mary

Down Southerners Second Time in Seesaw Game by Score of 12 to 5

SMITH WALKS FIVE TIMES

After giving the Crusaders a scare of repeating last year's debacle, when they defeated the Purple champs, 11 to 8, William and Mary was abruptly squashed last Wednesday, when the Crusaders regained their equilibrium with the entry of Fons into the box. It started off like a walkaway for the Purple, then settled down to a real ball game, suddenly looked like another William and Mary reprisal, and was climaxed by the Purple concluding their walkaway stunt by the score of 12-5.

Three Purple runs were scored in the first inning on three hits, two walks and a wild throw. The Crusaders added a duet of tallies in the fourth on Doherty's single, Dobens' triple and McMahon's sacrifice. In the very first inning Walsh knocked down Kahn's fierce drive with his bare hand, and threw to McEntee, who made a spectacular catch to retire the runner by a hair.

Dobens was in hot water continually. In the second inning, two singles and a walk filled the sacks with one out, but a double play, Dobens to Doherty to McEntee saved the day. In the third, the visitors got their first run when Moss singled, advanced on Kahn's sacrifice and scored on Drewry's single. In the fifth, two walks and a single again loaded the cushions, but Dobens fanned Thompson for the third out.

In the sixth, the stands got heart failure when William and Mary scored four runs to knot the count. The first four men singled, and the bases were loaded when Walsh dropped Cote's throw on Kahn's grounder in attempting a force out. Duggan, another freshman southpaw replaced Dobens. He stayed in long enough to walk Smith, and then Fons took the mound. Smith, by the way, was walked five times, and was not officially at bat. His batting average of .520 is enough to upset a pitcher. Fons hit Drewry and forced in the third run. Kahn scored with the fourth run of the inning when McMahon tossed out Dalk.

After this inning the Crusaders immediately got down to business. Doherty tripled in the sixth, but was marooned on third base. In the seventh, Cote singled, Savage tripled, Freeman walked, Doherty got his second triple of the game and scored on a wild pitch, all good for four runs. Fons had silenced the bats of the southerners, while his own mates continued their bombardment. In the eighth, McMahon got his second double, Walsh singled, Cote doubled, scoring his two mates, but was run down himself between second and third. Morrissey walked, advanced on Savage's sacrifice, and scored the last run of the fray on Kahn's error of Freeman's grounder.

Thompson fielded brilliantly for the Green and Gold, while Kahn's one-hand stab of Morrissey's hot grounder over second base was the best play of the game. McMahon handled six chances at second in neat fashion. Moss was the heavy stickler for the southerners, while Doherty totalled seven bases on three hits.

Purple To Meet Harvard and C. U.

After hurdling the Maroon obstacle in their path to the championship, the Crusaders will engage Harvard tomorrow at Soldiers' Field in Cambridge. Dobens will probably take the mound against the Crimson, and should have rounded into shape to hold the Crimson in check.

Harvard after a weak start has progressed rapidly and trounced U. of P. by a 7-4 count on Saturday. She took an early season defeat from B. U., but now seems a different team. Barbee hurled Saturday, and Puffer or Toulmin will probably perform against the Purple.

The Saturday engagement will be with Catholic University, conquerors of Harvard by 1-0. Word coming from the South indicates a strong outfit from Washington, but with Fons on the mound the Crusaders expect to win handily. A better indication of their strength will be Wednesday's score with Harvard.

Several of the Crusaders are in the throes of a batting slump, but expect to boost their averages in these two games. On next week when they meet Fordham, West Point and Georgetown, they should be handing the pitcher an early lead to work with.

Shorty McMahon To Teach At M. E. Wells High School

Harry McMahon, second baseman on the Purple ball team and star half-back on Cleo O'Donnell's gridiron squad for the past four years, has been engaged to take charge of all athletics at the Mary E. Wells High School beginning next September. Besides coaching he will teach in the high school.

FROSH DEFEAT EXETER FIRST TIME SINCE 1919

In their second game of the season, the Purple Cubs defeated Phillips-Exeter at Exeter by a score of 6-1. This is the first victory that Holy Cross has scored over Exeter since 1919.

Dan Mooney pitched for the freshmen nine and allowed only seven hits, while his mates pummeled the Exeter pitcher for many timely blows.

The Exeter team gave their pitchers, Samborski and Healey, ragged support, making five errors in the field. The Purple freshmen have two errors chalked against them, and Dan McGarrigan's shoestring catch was the feature of the game.

H. C. '29-St. Anselm's Prep Game

The Holy Cross freshman team received a severe drubbing at the hands of a well-balanced St. Anselm's Prep team, at Manchester, N. H., last Saturday. The final score was 22 to 11. Each team used three pitchers during the course of the game. Kelleher started for the freshmen, and was relieved by Mooney in the first inning. The field was a small one and lined with trees, where an ordinary outfield fly became a hit. Mooney lasted for five innings and Madden finished the game. Five home runs were made in the trees along the field. Griffin and Bradley drove out circuit clouts for the Prepsters; and Hurley with two, and McGarrigan were the frosh sluggers.

The score:

Three Games This Week

Coach Jack Reed's charges have a tough schedule for next week, and the pitchers will have to be in their best form to capture these games. On Wednesday they play the Harvard freshmen at Cambridge, while the varsity nines are battling on Soldiers Field. On Thursday, Boston College freshmen invade Fitton Field, and on Saturday the frosh will journey to Putnam, Conn., to play Pomfret Academy.

Fordham Racquet Wielders Down Purple Saturday, 5-1

The Fordham tennis team retaliated in part for the defeat of the Maroon baseball nine by downing the Purple racquet wielders 5-1. The only victory scored by the Purple was in the singles. Horace Kelly defeating Fred Meyers after a hard three-set battle.

The most thrilling match of the afternoon was the nip and tuck sets played by Capt. McCarthy and Donohue, the latter winning 6-3, 7-5.

Singles: McAuliffe (Fordham) defeated Fitzgerald, 6-1, 6-1; Donohue (Fordham) defeated McCarthy, 6-3, 7-5; King (Fordham) defeated Reardon, 6-7, 6-4; Kelly defeated Meyers (Fordham), 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Doubles: McAuliffe and Donohue (Fordham) defeated Fitzgerald and Hill, 6-2, 6-0; King and Meyers (Fordham) defeated McCarthy and Reardon, 7-5, 6-1.

During the coming week the team will meet three opponents. The first match is tomorrow with Worcester Tech on their home courts. Tech recently tied Clark. Friday afternoon they play Boston University on the home courts, and Saturday, Trinity, also at home.

JUNIOR BALL TOSSERS NOSE OUT SENIOR TEAM

The second game of the interclass baseball series turned out to be a thriller with the final result in doubt until the last minute. The seniors, who were opposed by the juniors, started the ball rolling in the first inning when they scored a run. At the end of the second, the count stood four to one in favor of the last year men, who seemed to have little difficulty in solving the slants of Hathaway, who was on the mound for the Beavenites.

From this time on the juniors were invincible, although the seniors repeatedly had men on bases with none out. It seemed that as soon as the sacks were occupied, the junior team braced up and contributed brilliant bits of fielding. Carrington and Peters both made nice running catches, the former going out into left field from short stop upon two occasions.

Harry Smith was on the mound for the seniors, and held the juniors to six hits, striking out six and giving four bases on balls. Hathaway did well, although he was nicked for nine hits. He gave five bases on balls, but also struck out five men.

The score:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7
1927 0 2 0 1 2 0 x—5
1926 1 3 0 0 0 0 0—4
Batteries: Seniors, Smith and Ziegler. Junior, Hathaway and Colosanto.

Purple To Clash With B. C. In Dual Meet Saturday

Boston College is the next meet for the Holy Cross track athletes, in Boston next Saturday. The Eagles have wonderful strength for a dual meet, and look like favorites over the Purple. After the disastrous defeat by Dartmouth, Bart's men are anxious to redeem themselves at the expense of Jack Ryder's men.

In the weight events, the Maroon and Gold are strongly fortified with McManus in the hammer throw, Wilczewski in the shotput, and Beach in the discus. This represents three first places if these men are in form. Frank Hussey in the dash, Murphy in the hurdles, Daley, McKillop, McCluskey, Ingoldsby, Ryer, Cavanaugh and Russell in the middle distances form a crew of fliers that are hard to beat.

The Eagles lack a broad jumper, a high jumper and a pole vaulter. The Purple expects to annex a few valuable points in these events. Mulvihill, Burns, Quinn, Fitzpatrick, Moran, Crowley, Feeney, McNamara and Dowling, if he is in shape, should all be place winners. If the rest of the Purple men come in for a few second and third places, the total score will be more evenly balanced. The entire squad will go to Boston and compete.

Glendenning, Dartmouth, High Point Scorer — Burns and Fitzpatrick Star

Dartmouth swamped the Purple in a dual track meet held on Memorial Field, Hanover, last Saturday. The Green captured all but two first places and won by the score of 108 1/2 to 26 1/2. One Dartmouth record was broken and another equalled, but on account of the heavy wind behind the runners in these events the marks will not stand.

Burns and Fitzpatrick starred for the Purple. Burns ran an excellent quarter mile, finishing five yards ahead of McCall of Dartmouth, who came in second. The time was 49 9-10 seconds. Fitzpatrick won the two-mile race after a plucky exhibition of grit when he passed Dalrymple on the last lap after trailing him all the way.

In the hundred, Glendenning equalled a Dartmouth record in beating Jim Quinn. The time was ten seconds flat. In the 220, he clipped a half second from the record, covering the distance in 21 2-10 seconds. The Green took the first three places in this race, McCall and Edgar finishing behind Glendenning. In the broad jump Glendenning finished second to his team-mate Colladay and was the high point scorer of the day.

The Crusaders failed to place in the hammer throw and in the discus throw. In the other field events the best the Purple could obtain was a second in the high jump which went to Moody of Dartmouth, Feeney second. The Purple took four thirds, Crowley in the shotput, Carrington in the javelin throw, Ducharme in the broad jump and Moran tied for third in the pole vault with Curil of the Green team.

In only one event did the Purple place more than one man. In the 440-yard dash Burns finished first and Mulvihill third. Other men to place in the runnings events were Moran, second in 120-yard high hurdles, and third in the 220-yard low hurdles. McNamara third in the mile, and Reddington third in the half mile.

The summary:
120-yard high hurdles—Won by Wells, Dartmouth; 2d, Moran, Holy Cross; 3d, Robinson, Dartmouth. Time, 15 3-5 seconds.
100-yard Dash—Won by Glendenning, Dartmouth; 2d, Quinn, Holy Cross; 3d, Edgar, Dartmouth. Time, 10 seconds. (Equals Dartmouth record.)
Mile Run—Won by Auer, Dartmouth; 2d, Keith, Dartmouth; 3d, McNamara, Holy Cross. Time, 4 minutes, 39 1-5 seconds.
440-yard Dash—Won by Burns, Holy Cross; 2d, McCall, Dartmouth; 3d, Mulvihill, Holy Cross. Time, 49 9-10 seconds.
880-yard Run—Won by Kelley, Dartmouth; 2d, Martin, Dartmouth; 3d, Reddington, Holy Cross. Time, 2 minutes, 24 4-5 seconds.

Two-mile Run—Won by Fitzpatrick, Holy Cross; 2d, Dalrymple, Dartmouth; 3d, Mulen, Dartmouth. Time, 9 min. 59 3-10 sec.
220-yard Low Hurdles—Won by Wells, Dartmouth; 2d, Merrill, Dartmouth; 3d, Moran, Holy Cross. Time, 25 sec.
220-yard Dash—Won by Glendenning, Dartmouth; 2d, McCall, Dartmouth; 3d, Edgar, Dartmouth. Time, 21 3-10 seconds. (Breaks Dartmouth record.)
Shotput—Won by McAvoy, Dartmouth, 48 ft. 8 in.; 2d, Gow, Dartmouth, 39 ft. 1 in.; 3d, Crowley, Holy Cross, 38 ft. 9 in.

Javelin Throw—Won by Gow, Dartmouth, 160 ft. 7 1/2 in.; 2, Covert, Dartmouth, 156 ft.; 3d, Carrington, Holy Cross, 155 ft. 11 in.
Discus Throw—Won by McAvoy, Dartmouth, 137 ft. 1 in.; 2d, Davis, Dartmouth, 116 ft. 11 1/2 in.; 3d, McNulty, Dartmouth, 109 ft. 4 1/2 in.
High Jump—Won by Moody, Dartmouth, 6 ft.; 2d, Feeney, Holy Cross, 5 ft. 9 in.; 3d, tied between Edgar and Slawson, Dartmouth, 5 ft. 7 in.
Broad Jump—Won by Colladay, Dartmouth, 22 ft. 7 1/2 in.; 2d, Glendenning, Dartmouth, 21 ft. 7 1/2 in.; 3d, Ducharme, Holy Cross, 21 ft. 4 in.
Pole Vault—Won by Barker, Dartmouth, 11 ft. 6 in.; 2d, Bellaire, Dartmouth, 11 ft.; 3d, tied between Moran, Holy Cross, and Curil, Dartmouth, 10 ft. 6 in.

Week Brings New Gifts Of Value To College Library

Alumni and friends of the College continue in their generous donations to the new library. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Links recently sent two cases of books, including histories and classics. Joseph T. Higgins, '16, has also donated several volumes of history. A splendid set of the Chronicles of America in fifty volumes, published by the Yale University Press, was the gift of Harry S. Austin, '01.

Ten volumes of the Messages and Papers of the Presidents, the gift of Hon. Frederick O'Byrne, Commissioner of Jurors, New York City, were augmented by eleven volumes of the same set, given by Philip Berolzheimer of New York City.

H. S. Piatt, Ph.D., of New York City, has presented several volumes of excellent merit; and likewise from John H. Nagle, Hall of Records, New York, many books of historical interest have been received. A number of books of history are the gift of James P. Lavin of Phoenix, Ariz.

Perhaps the largest and most valuable collection to be received at one time is the gift of the Hon. John P. O'Brien, '04, of New York. The most interesting and valuable scripts are without question, the two original scores of Victor Herbert's compositions, "The Jester's Serenade," and "A Love Sonnet." Also a large number of autobiographies of famous men, including Wilson, Roosevelt, Harrison, Garfield, General T. H. Barry, Dr. James J. Walsh and others. This splendid collection is completed with many historical books of real value. Besides these gifts, books are arriving daily from France, Italy and England, where they were purchased last summer by Foster Stearns, the Librarian.

J. FENTON DEFENDS PSYCHOLOGY THESES

ly that brute animals are endowed with rational life, maybe less perfect but true. No power can read the mind of an animal. Why therefore say that an animal is not endowed with intelligence, since its actions do not differ in kind but merely in degrees of intelligence. There is no proof that an animal's actions are due to instinct, because there is no such thing as instinct.

The Rev. William I. Lonergan, S.J., associate editor of "America," next arose and denied the thesis, "The human soul is de jure and de facto immortal." Fr. Lonergan stated that whatever is naturally corruptible is not de jure immortal; that the very nature of the soul demands that it be annihilated; that the human soul has integral parts; and that the human soul has parts formally extended. He further stated that anything which is capable of local extension and occupies space is not merely virtually but formally extended and his objection was justified. Mr. Fenton disproved the truth of the objection and established his thesis with all proof.

The third objector to raise an attack was Doctor Adam Leroy Jones, Ph.D., director of the board of admission at Columbia University. Dr. Jones denied the thesis that "Man is endowed with various permanent mental powers called faculties of the mind." Dr. Jones based his denial on the fact that, if the mental powers of man mean the metaphysical parts through which the agencies are performed the thesis is false. He further stated that, arguing along the same lines, it might be established that light has the power of sight.

Rev. George F. Strohaber, S.J., Ph.D., dean of Chemistry at the College, next arose to attack the thesis, "The human will in many of its acts enjoys a true freedom of choice." Fr. Strohaber argued in brief, that if the human will enjoys freedom of choice, man could place an effect without cause, which he is unable to do. He further proved from Newton's laws of motion that whatever is moved into action receives that motion from another object, but that the will receives no such motion and therefore can have no true freedom of activity. Fr. Strohaber reduced his entire objection to the statement made recently by Professor James, who claimed that the mediate judgment of consciousness is too crude to be accepted, because it often leads to hallucination.

The last objector from the floor was Rev. J. Wilfrid Brosnan, S.J., who was introduced to the audience as the teacher of Rev. Daniel F. Ryan, S.J., now the professor and teacher of Mr. Fenton. After a few questions, the disputation was closed with a few remarks by ex-Senator Walsh, the presiding chairman.

LIBRARY CATALOGUING TO START ON JUNE 1

Miss Katherine Warren of Grafton, has been appointed as head of the Cataloguing Department, and will have charge of the work under the supervision of the Librarian. Miss Warren is a graduate of Simmons College, and has had valuable experience in the Libraries of Harvard and Yale Universities. She will be assisted by Miss Margaret Wrightson of Worcester, a sister of George Wrightson, '25.

The work of cataloguing the books in the Library will begin on June 1, and be pushed as rapidly as possible during the summer, in order that everything may be ready for the transfer of the books to the new building in the fall.

NEW HAVEN CLUB

The New Haven Club held a meeting last Thursday and elected officers for the coming year. Edward M. Peters, '27, was elected president; John J. Johnson, '28, vice-president; and John S. Beegan, '29, treasurer. The secretary will be chosen from the class of '30 in the fall.

B. J. F. DEBATING SOCIETY

The B. J. F. meeting this week will be held on Friday evening, May 14. At this meeting the officers for next year will be elected. All members are urged to be present.

BEFORE you even look for the jack or tire-tools, tuck a neat wad of Prince Albert into the muzzle of your jimmy-pipe. Light up . . . and get yourself in the frame of mind where a flat tire is "all in the day's work." Talk about a gloom-chaser!

P. A. simply knocks troubles for a row of planished-steel mudguards. Its cool, soothing smoke percolates into your system, the sun crashes through the clouds, and everything is hotsy-totsy. Yes indeed, Fellows, Prince Albert is great tobacco.

And paste this in the fly-leaf of your thesaurus: P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how hard you hit it up. The Prince Albert process flunked Bite and Parch on their first examination. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now and see.
